ONE HELD IN OSWEGO ARMY SALE INQUIRY

Civilian Plumber Suspected
When Shortages Are Found at Fort Ontario.

GOODS GO IN CARLOADS

Hospital, Equipped for 1,500
Patients, Disposed of Most of Furnishings.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, SYRACUSE, March 12.—An army supply sales scandal is developing in an investigation Lieut. Col. Yates, commander at Fort Ontario, Oswego, N. Y., is conducting before L. W. Baker, United States Commissioner, of that city. Bruce Wallace, a civilian plumber, employed at the fort for the last ten years, has been arrested as a result of developments so far.

The inquiry, in the nature of a John Doe proceeding, is being held behind closed doors. Investigation is being made of estimated shortages of thousands of dollars' worth of blankets, clothing and supplies of all kinds in connection with the dismantling of the hospital and sale of equipment. The hospital, equipped for 1,500 patients, was one of the largest in the East. More than $1,000,000 was spent in extra buildings and equipment during the war. Carload lots of blankets, bedding, sheets, linen, tableware and furniture of all kinds were sold when the breakup came. All sales were made through the Quartermaster's Department.

Lieut. Norton was placed in charge of the department a few months ago and in going over the accounts found discrepancies. He reported to Col. Yates and the inquiry was started.

No formal charges have been laid against any one except Wallace, who is at liberty on bail. A fire occurred recently in a building where a quantity of paints, brushes and other materials are stored. The blaze was extinguished without much damage, when another fire developed in the same place and almost destroyed the building.

LEGION TO CHECK UP SLACKERS

INDIANAPOLIS, March 12.—National officers of the American Legion here today took steps to protect men who may be wrongfully classed as draft evaders in the lists to be issued soon by the War Department, and to make certain that none guilty of evading military service escape.

LADY NICOTINE BARRED AT SYRACUSE 'U.' AS A NUISANCE

Any Student Caught Using Tobacco in Any Form Will Suffer Unpleasant Consequences,
Warns Chancellor Day.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, SYRACUSE, March 12.—Mildred Nicotine was "busted out" of Syracuse University this afternoon by order of Chancellor James R. Day.

Under the edict students are prohibited from smoking cigarettes, cigars or pipes on the university grounds or in the university buildings under the penalty of "unpleasant consequences."

The Chancellor attacks the tobacco habit generally in an open letter not only to the students but faculty members as well and declares that it is his duty to enforce strictly the long standing rule. One of the chief reasons he gives is that smoking increases the fire risks and he cites instances of fires at the university traceable to cigarettes.

"It is strange that these things have to be enforced on intelligent men," the Chancellor says. "Smoking is certainly not needed as a sedative to a young man of 16 to 18. I do not believe the doctor prescribes it as a tonic. It is a foolish habit on which he wastes his money and makes himself a nuisance to many people to whom this particular form of smoking is exceedingly offensive."

"There seems to be a tendency to make some concessions to young men coming back from the war, because of the extremely unwise practice adopted by the Christian Association and excused by that spirit within us all of doing all we could to meet the demands of habits formed under terrible experiences as the trench. But all that is past. Nothing justifies any young man of this university in smoking on our campus or in our buildings."

N. D. COUNTIES SEE WAY TO GET BANK DEPOSITS

Court Decides Garnishee of Redeposits Is Legal.

BISMARCK, N. D., March 12.—Counties having funds deposited in the Bank of North Dakota may seek to recover those funds through garnishee of moneys placed by the State bank in various local banks, according to a North Dakota Supreme Court decision announced today by Chief Justice J. E. Robinson.

The decision was in a case brought on behalf of the State of North Dakota to restrain Sargent county from garnishing State bank deposits in local banks in that county. Similar proceedings have been brought by other counties.

Justice Robinson in outlining the decision held that it was unconstitutional to garnish the deposits of the Bank of North Dakota by the State because the State debt limit of $2,000,000 is exceeded.

TROOPER KILLED BY BANDITS.

PONTIAC, Mich., March 12.—H. E. Allen, a State trooper, was instantly killed this morning in a gun fight at Novi, near here, between three members of the State constabulary and five bandit suspects. More than a score of shots were exchanged, the suspects escaping after Allen fell.

COUNTER CHARGES IN STILLMAN CASE

dian ad item, duly appointed here in pursuant to an order of this court on September 13, 1920, alleges that he is a stranger to all and singular of the matter in the complaint of this action set forth; that he is an infant of the age of twenty-eight months, and submits his rights and interests in the matters in question to the protection of the court.

"Wherefore, defendant prays such judgment herein as will fully enforce and protect his rights and interests in the matters in question in this action."

It was learned yesterday that Fred Beauvais, the half breed guide named as correspondent by Mr. Stillman, no longer is at Camp St. Hilana, Quebec, summer home of the Stillmans, situated on a piece of land which is said to have been deeded to Mrs. Stillman in the will of her father. The guide is said to be in the United States, and it is regarded as possible that he may appear for Mrs. Stillman at one of the future hearings.

A Fred Beauvais, reported to have been a guide, was employed in a sporting goods store in this city a year ago. In introducing himself when he applied for the job the man said he once was employed on the Stillman estate. Little was known about him among his co-workers.

COP ARRESTS WIFE FOR LECTURING HIM ON POST

Patrolman Thomas Meehan, of the Sheriff street station had a spat with his wife at supper time Friday night and left their home at 38 West 123 street so hurriedly that he deprived her of the opportunity of having the last word. Mrs. Meehan, however, was not one to suffer in silence. She pursued her husband to his post of duty, so the officer complained yesterday in Essex Market Court, and followed him up and down his beat shouting at him and harrying their domestic troubles to whole blockfuls of East Siders.

The officer felt of his revolver and handcuffs and gained no power from those weapons. He sickened from the knowledge that the whole neighborhood knew his wife was putting it over on him and that he hadn't a verbal comeback equal to the occasion.

Under this stress he placed his wife under arrest for annoying an officer on post. Yesterday he took her to court.

How Silly It Is to Block Progress

When Fulton installed steam in boats, the workers on sailing vessels thought certainly they would soon be out of jobs, so they organized a strike, the object of which was to secure from their masters a pledge not to substitute steam for sails.

Suppose the old way prevailed today—how could shipping meet the world's demands?

The worker who objects to, or fights progress is merely handicapping himself—making it easier for him to be out of a job than to be constantly employed.

It is capital that always comes to the front when something new is given to the world—and capital comes only to those who practice Thrift; in no other way can anybody accumulate money. Thrift is open to everybody; it is no respecter of persons.

Farm Workers Objected to Reapers and Moving Machines

I remember very well when the reaper and mowing machine took the place of the cradle and the scythe back on the farm where I worked in the good old summertime, and thereby stored up the health that has stood by me all these years.

Every farm hand in Monroe County, Penn., said: "That settles my getting any work during the harvesting and haying season."

But it did not do any such thing. New inventions make more, instead of less work, besides helping us to live more comfortably.

Capital backed the reaper and the mowing machine, and made more capital for the farmers and gave them and their fellow-workers a happier existence.

Could farmers supply the world's needs without the modern machinery they use? Certainly not. How many thousands of workers, all receiving good wages, are employed on the farms now?

How many millions of acres are now tilled that could not have been tilled if old ways were in vogue today?

What every worker will do some day will be to lay aside some of the money he earns and seek safe ways in which to invest it, AND THAT DAY SHOULD BE TODAY! He will want to own an interest in the enterprises that constantly seek, create and get the new things that make the world grow and prosper.

When Whitney Invented the Cotton Gin

a tremendous hue and cry went up in the cotton districts of the United States—surely thousands of workers would not have anything to do—poverty and hardship would go stalking arm in arm throughout the South and Southwest. But nothing so dire happened.

More cotton was grown—more workers were employed—and, what is of great importance to all of us, cotton goods became cheaper and they are cheaper today, even with the dollar's purchasing power lessened, than they were in those old days.

Suppose capital balked at progress? Then what? Well, there would be very little capital and mighty little work.

Waste Not; Want Not

That's an old saying, and a trite one at this time. We have wasted and now we are wanting. If every worker in America makes up his mind to take out of his earnings every year as little as $100 and invest it to help the industries of the country, and at the same time be assured of the safety of his investment, there would be new capital always available to the amount of three to five billion dollars annually!

Do you want to know how to become an investor? Ask Henry L. Doherty & Company, 40 Wall Street, by letter or personal call, or by requesting a representative to call at your home or place of business. It will give them real pleasure to assist workers in the intelligent practice of Thrift and to show them the way to invest wisely.
